COULD CREATE A SENSATION.

Our morning contemporary is meeting with criticism from certain quarters because of comments made on the championship wrestling match held in Ogden last Tuesday evening. The Standard is of the opinion that the criticism is not justified. The wrestling game in Utah has been under a cloud and, if half that has been told to the Standard were to be published, a sensation would be created.

ON HIS 75TH BIRTHDAY.

Fred J. Kiesel yesterday celebrated his 75th birthday. He has been one of the great factors in the upbuilding of Ogden. That his work in that direction is far from ended was made evident yesterday when, in company with his son who is here from Sacramento and a representative of the Standard, he drove out to the plant of the Utah Cereal Food company and then across the viaduct to the packing plant, both of which institutions are receiving his strong financial support.

Ogden hopes Mr. Kiesel will continue in good health, so as to observe many more birthdays and round out his plans for the future good of this city.

By the way, the cereal factory is beginning to tune up the five floors of machinery and within a month the finished product should begin to reach the market. When running at capacity, a large force of men and women will be employed at the plant and another forward impetus will be given to Ogden as a manufacturing center.

At the Ogden Packing and Provision company's office plans of the new buildings are under consideration, and, when the improvements are completed, from 300 to 500 skilled and unskilled workmen will find employment. That means city building and, looking in to the future, we see 1000 to 2000 employees in this one industry.

WHEN THE BOY PLAYS.

The representative of the Y. M. C. A. who is to speak in the Presbyterian church tomorrow will outline the great work being done by his organization for boys. He will explain the campaign covering outdoor sports and urge the importance of Ogden having a similar influence to guide the boys of this community in their play. He will tell of track sports, and hikes and camping parties planned and conducted under the supervision of men who understand boy life and have the welfare of the youngsters at heart.

Ogden has its boy scouts, but something more is needed. There might be a gymnasium, but in the absence of a suitable building the fostering, under trained leadership, of boy sports should not be neglected. We sometimes think a "gym" is not necessary, except to provide a bathing place; that out-door life, winter and summer, should be the thing sought after. But, in or out of doors, the boys should have the benefit of the experience of older heads and the helping hand of everyone.

There is much pent up energy in a boy and, when a safety valve of sane pastimes is not provided, the surplus vim may find expression in a direction harmful and too often destructive of a boy's good name.

MAKING THE FOREIGNER AN AMERICAN.

Here in Utah the process of assimilating the foreign element is proceeding so rapidly that very few of those who come from distant lands remain more than a year without partaking of the American spirit, at least to the extent of being able to make themselves understood in English. But in the great centers of population—in the large cities—conditions are different. Hundreds of thousands of foreigners take over entire districts, as on the East Side in New York, and they persist in their foreign language and customs.

New York, recognizing a menace of national weakness in this alien attitude, has begun a campaign of education to be applied to the 597,000 foreign-born whites in that state who are unable to speak English. The state board of education is to make a careful survey of the immigrant education situation; establish training courses to prepare teachers for the instruction of foreigners; adopt standards of efficiency in public evening school work for adult immigrants; cooperate with state and federal agencies, and publish bulletins on the work.

A teachers' training institute for the preparation of teachers of foreigners was organized at Albany in the fall of 1915. It was so successful that it was decided to continue it upon a permanent basis as a part of the regular curriculum of the New York State College for Teachers. Similar institutes are planned for Syracuse and New York City, while training classes are in operation at Buffalo and Rochester, partly as a result of state encouragement.

Co-operation with government and private agencies interested in educating and Americanizing the alien is already an established fact. A statement issued by the New York State Department of Education shows that the Bureau of Education of the Department of the Interior, the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization of the Department of Labor, and the National Americanization Committee of New York City are among those whose services and material have been utilized. Speakers for institutes have been furnished by some of these co-operating agencies.

APPEALING TO PATRIOTISM.

One of our Ogden ministers, just back from the east, says the subject under discussion everywhere is preparedness, and the statement is borne out by the editorial columns of the eastern press.

Here is a review from a New England paper:

The immense preparedness parade of last Saturday in New York was convincing proof that the patriotism and Americanism of the nation's metropolis are aroused. We believe a similar spirit pervades substantially all sections of the country and only awaits appropriate opportunity to make itself known. Such an opportunity is offered in all of the larger cities and towns by the near approach of the time for holding the summer military training camps. These camps are open to young men with a high school, or college, education, but while the government furnishes the instructors, the tents, the arms and the other equipment, the individuals are expected to pay for their own transportation to and from the camp, for their own uniforms, and for subsistence. This approximates forty dollars expense and operates as a barrier to many a young man who is willing to give up a month of his time to the work of preparing himself for the full duties of citizenship but who cannot afford the cash outlay.

Under such circumstances a great many business concerns are not only granting a month's leave of absence to some of their employees, but as a patriotic contribution are paying the actual expense incurred by the volunteer who goes.

An extremely wise provision in the pending bill in congress relating to the increase in the army looks to the government assuming all the expense involved in attendance upon these summer camps and this provision is among those agreed to by the conferees of the two houses and will consequently become a part of the law. But this bill will not be effective in time to apply to the camps held this summer, and consequently the country must rely upon individual patriotism to make their success possible.

We are all of us ready upon occasion to declare our stalwart Americanism and our undying patriotism; conversationally. Here is a chance to transmit our words into effective deeds.

CHAUTAUQUA TO BE ON 23RD STREET

Grounds on Twenty-third street, between Washington and Adams avenues, have been selected by the Ogden Chautauqua directors for the assembly that opens Sunday, June 11. The selection has been announced by Dr. E. P. Mills, secretary of the assembly. The Chautauqua grounds can be reached from both Adams avenue and Twenty-third streets and arrangements will probably be made so that there will be an entrance from Twenty-fourth street. In selecting the site, the directors have sought to secure one close to the center of Ogden and with ample room for the erection of the large tent auditorium.

COUNTRY CLUB IS TO REBUILD THE CLUB HOUSE

With the enthusiastic spirit that has been predominant in making successful many local undertakings, members of Ogden's elite social set, forming the Ogden Country Club, last night subscribed enough money and material for the construction of a new $25,000 club house on the site of the year-old structure that was destroyed by fire yesterday. This action was taken at a dinner staged in the Weber club, as a substitute for the one which was to have been held in the clubhouse yesterday evening as a feature of the formal season opening, and was spontaneous, the club members not waiting for action on the part of the directors.

While the dinner was in progress, without previously disclosing their idea to President C. A. Day or any of the other Country club officers present, L. R. Eccles, who acted as toastmaster at the dinner, and Joseph Scowcroft suggested that immediate action looking to the rebuilding of the burned club house, be taken up by the members. Mr. Eccles said he would start a subscription list with a subscription of $1000. The spirit of the toastmaster instantaneously spread to the banqueters and in less than a half hour, $8885 in cash, the architect's service, frames and labor, lumber, cement and hardware for the structure was subscribed.

Following upon the echo of L. R. Eccles' announcement of his subscription, Joseph Scowcroft followed with a proffer of $500. D. C. Eccles said he would give all the lumber necessary for the building and R. E. Bristol, speaking for himself and H. C. Day, said they could be counted on for every sack of cement needed. Leslie S. Hodgson proffered his services as architect and C. J. Humphris said he would furnish the frames and labor for the new building. After the other gentlemen present had been called upon for cash subscriptions, the ladies entered the affair and, with even more enthusiasm, swelled the subscription list to its big total.

The matter of the new clubhouse, in fact, proved so interesting that the banqueters forgot, until nearly 10:20 o'clock, that arrangements had been made at the Berthana hall for the informal dancing party that had been planned as the closing event of the opening of the clubhouse for the 1916 season. This party was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season.

The total subscriptions made last night at the Weber club for the erection of a new clubhouse were as follows:

Subscriptions.
D. C. Eccles, all lumber for the building.
R. E. Bristol and H. C. Day, all cement for the building.
L. S. Hodgson, architect's services and plans.

More Subscriptions.
A number of other subscriptions were made at the dancing party by club members who were not present at the dinner and it was also announced that other members had volunteered to contribute toward the furnishing for the home. Chapin A. Day, president and one of the founders of the club, stated that the spirit shown at the banquet was magnificent and the club members in general were greatly pleased that the matter had been immediately taken up.

Among the out-of-town club members at the banquet and dance were City Commissioner and Mrs. W. H. Shearman and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Apperson of Salt Lake.

MANUFACTURERS AND JOBBERS ARE TO ENTERTAIN

Retail merchants of cities and towns along the Ogden, Logan & Idaho railway are to be entertained on Wednesday, June 21, by the Ogden manufacturers and jobbers, arrangements for an excursion to this city, a tour of the factories and jobbing houses and a banquet to close the festivities of the day.

Detailed arrangements for the event will be made by committees that were appointed today by George W. Goddard, chairman of the Ogden branch of the Utah Manufacturers' association.

The manufacturers and jobbers have been considering the entertainment plan for some time, feeling that the merchants of northern Utah would find a day spent in Ogden profitable, especially as showing what goods are manufactured in this city and how they are manufactured.

The committees named are as follows:

Finance—H. L. Harrington, chairman; LeRoy Eccles, Joseph Scowcroft, James Witherspoon and O. J. Stillwell.

Banquet—George W. Goddard, chairman; S. S. Jensen, Henry Stevens, Fred W. Redfield, Alva Scoville and Conrad Bohm.

Publicity—James P. Casey, chairman; W. E. Zuppans and R. W. Earls.

Automobiles—O. S. Gilson, chairman; Joseph Wright, George Silver, George Knauss, Gage Rodman, James Reed and Ed. Olson.

Reception—Mayor A. R. Heywood, chairman; W. H. Watis, Chris Plysare, Miles L. Jones, L. L. Reynolds and George S. McAllister.

Invitation—Fred G. Taylor, chairman; Henry Ames, J. S. Campbell, Heber Scowcroft and Charles S. Murphy.

Transportation—P. D. Kline, chairman; Joseph Scowcroft, Jr., Ralph E. Bristol.

Program—W. J. Parker, chairman; Charles Empey, William Van Allen, Lucian Ray and John Leonard.

President George S. McAllister and Secretary R. W. Earls represent the state manufacturers' association.

The program committee, headed by W. J. Parker, will arrange for the route over which the automobiles will travel in taking the visitors to the various factory districts of Ogden.

Brief stops at several plants are to be made, in order that the retail merchants may have an opportunity of seeing exactly how goods are made in Ogden, giving them also a realization of the immensity of Utah's industries that are centralized here.

It appears to the Board of Health that there is danger of the spread of rabies. It is, therefore, hereby ordered that all dogs within the municipal limits of Ogden City be muzzled or confined in such a way as to prevent their biting animals or persons and it shall be the duty of every owner or person having the custody of any dog in Ogden City to confine it or provide it with a substantial muzzle approved by the Board of Health and to keep said dog confined or muzzled without interruption from June 1, 1916, to September 1, 1916.

If after June 1, 1916, there shall be found within Ogden City, any unmuzzled dog running at large, the same forthwith shall be killed.

(Signed) CHRIS FLYGARE, Superintendent Streets, Public Improvement and Board of Health.

BATTLESHIP SENT TO VERA CRUZ

Washington, May 20.—The battleship Nebraska in reserve at the Boston navy yard today was ordered to Vera Cruz, to relieve the Kentucky which has been assigned to the naval militia of New York City, Brooklyn and Jersey City for summer maneuvers.

The transfer of the ship is in line with the policy established by Rear Admiral Benson, chief of operations, to keep reserve battleships in operation as much as possible as a means of continuing their efficiency.

ACTOR FIGHTS FOR "DAMAGED GOODS"

Startling Film Play Is Made Possible Only by Brave Efforts of Richard Bennet.

"Damaged Goods" the remarkable drama which has now been put into motion pictures only saw the light of day after a desperate fight for its production.

Richard Bennet, the actor who starred in and put on the stage production and who now appears in the motion pictures, played a role of heroism in behalf of humanity when he set out to get the play produced. If he had not won, the picture could not be seen today.

Mr. Bennet chanced to overhear a conversation in a Broadway cafe one day three years ago. Two diners were discussing a strange play by Eugene Brieux, a French dramatist of note. What Bennet heard led him to get and read the book. He became inspired with the moral mission and the power of the story. He determined to put it on the stage.

It was a long heartbreaking fight that followed. He met obstacles at every step. Two theaters were promised him and then refused when the nature of the startling play was learned. He tried to put it on at a hotel and was turned down. But patience and work triumphed. At last he got a theater.

The world knows what happened then. The country was swept with a sensation. Men and women fought to get into the playhouse to see this daring preachment of the stage.

The veil of secrecy about the great disease scourge of the race was torn away and the truth was told openly, publicly, frankly for the first time.

Bennet not only won his fight for his worthy purpose, but he won a big material success as well. At last reports Mr. Bennet had derived no less than $400,000 in profits from his production—and he is still collecting royalties.

The feature on the program of the Oracle Theater on Sunday and Monday will be Jane Grey in the Triumph Equitable five-reel production entitled, "Man and His Angel." This is the first appearance of this charming young star under the Equitable management, but she will be remembered by motion picture patrons for her wonderful work in various big features produced by the Famous Players and the Triangle companies.

The story of "Man and His Angel" is particularly absorbing in its character studies and the power of its element of suspense. It deals with the influence for good exerted by a woman over a man's evil nature. Miss Grey has a role that offers unusual opportunities for the display of emotional talents, one that wins the sympathy of the spectator from the first. Her performance in this picture is undoubtedly the artistic triumph of her career.

In addition to the charming star, the Triumph Equitable production has provided a superlative cast, including Henri Bergman, one of the world's most noted character actors; Edwin MacKay, for years the most popular among the younger leading men of the stage, and such well-known film players as Robert Lee Hill, Willard Deshelle and Mayme Kelso. The picture was directed by Burton King.
